

Gas Survey Update

The natural gas survey sent out in early May 2016 was well received, eliciting almost 400 responses.

The Sustainability Committee is now processing the data with Con Edison to determine which respondents interested in securing gas service are nearest existing gas lines.

Those residents will be notified before Thanksgiving. To help them determine the cost for conversion at their homes, a list of vetted heating contractors experienced with conversions will be provided to them. Before the end of the year, others will be informed regarding their potential to receive gas service.

In response to various queries to the survey regarding alternative home heating options, the Committee will shortly be posting a guidance document. A public announcement will be made when that posting has occurred.
